Wailing in the Wind
By Paulette A. Skolarus

We stand to salute the red. white and blue,
A flag that stands for justice - no matter that it is flawed
A flag that stands for liberty - no matter that it is fragile
A flag that stands for loss when flying at half mast.

Today, again, it is wailing in the wind
A flag hung down in sorrow, for all mankind to see
Weeping for our soldiers - lost in foreign lands
Dressed in stars and stripes returning home to me.

Our flag is like no other, it represents the free
We need to fly it high for every man to see
To hall, to stars and stripes
And thank God this land is free.

Resolution for Livingston Wireless
By Paulette A. Skolarus

Genoa Charter Township passed a resolution on January 16, 2007 with a goal of providing Livingston County with wireless internet service. This resolution was approved at the request of our County Board of Commissioners.

In short, the resolution states that wireless service will enhance Livingston County’s ability to attract and retain high-tech and nanotechnology corporations. Livingston Wireless would blanket the entire county with wireless internet service and provide free high speed internet access to every resident, business, and visitor in the county. This technology will support a growing mobile workforce and elevate the technical knowledge of its current and future workforce.

Livingston Wireless will not use public tax dollars or grant monies to subsidize the creation of the network and does not in any way create government control of private business.

While this creation is in its infancy and we do not see implementation happening within the next year, we have taken the initial step in moving our Township/County into the 21st century. This would certainly solve the issue of providing high speed internet service to many of our homeowners living in the more rural areas of our township.

From the Desk of the Supervisor...

I am available –
Ever wonder what we are working on at the township hall? Maybe you have questions about proposed developments, the Latson Interchange, or just need information in general. I am available to meet with you individually, take your calls, e-mail, or make a presentation to your homeowners association, trade organization, scout troop, school or other civic organization. I will pick the topic(s) or you can let me know what types of information would be most useful to your particular group. Please feel free to call me at the township hall Ph (810) 227-5225 or e-mail me at gary@genoa.org. I will schedule a time that works for you or your group.

We are listening and learning –
Our popular spring yard waste drop off at the township hall is just around the corner. The specific dates are April 21, 2007 and May 19, 2007. Last fall we experimented with a new disposal/drop off method which was frankly an abysmal failure. You will be happy to know that we have reverted to the old method of bringing in trucks and loading yard waste directly into the recycle trucks. We listened and paid attention to the results of our transgression and learned our lesson. Thank you for your patience.

Mold in Your Home
By Paulette A. Skolarus

Over the past few years, I have received calls from residents who complain of mold in their homes. According to Dianne McCormick, Environmental Health Director, there are no standards for what level of mold is acceptable in Michigan. Livingston County does not provide any service to make inspection or testing of mold for residential homes. The Health Department does provide great information and links to area services to alleviate any mold problem you might have. Information may be obtained at www.lchd.org (under environmental health air quality).

If you can see mold or there is an earthy or musty odor in your home, you may assume you have a mold problem. That is not to say that all is lost. Usually moisture is the problem that causes mold to thrive and multiply. First, fix the source of the problem such as flooding, backed-up sewers, leaky roofs, humidifiers, house plants, steam from cooking and clothes dryers vented indoors (just a few examples).

Mold is found everywhere in nature; however, when it becomes excessive in the home, it may become dangerous depending upon the individuals sensitivity to various types of mold. After finding and fixing the source of your problem, remove the moldy materials. Wear gloves when handling moldy materials. Remove all porous materials such as ceiling tiles, sheetrock, carpeting and wood products.

Cleaning and drying of carpet does not remove the dead spores. Allow the area to dry for two or three days. Sheetrock should be removed at a minimum of twelve inches above the high water mark in the case of flooding.

Clean it up with soap:
• Wear gloves
• Use a non-ammonia soap with hot water and scrub the entire area
• Use a stiff brush on block walls
• Rinse clean with water and household bleach (make sure area is well ventilated)
• Never mix bleach with ammonia – the fumes are toxic
• Let disinfecting areas dry naturally to kill the mold

Cleaning may be hazardous to your health. Take steps to protect your health:
• Consider using a mask or respirator
• Wear protective clothing that can be discarded
• Use rubber gloves
• Try a small test patch of mold first. If you feel that this is adversely affecting your health, consider a licensed contractor
• Have your family members leave the area
• Air your house out during the work

School Elections Scheduled
